General Information

- The city of Anchorage has a complete web site of information for visitors:
<http://www.anchorage.net/> including their 20 best things to do:
<https://www.anchorage.net/blog/20-best-things-to-do-in-anchorage/>
- The “Official / Business” site is: <http://www.muni.org/>
- Some quick, facts: <http://www.anchorage.net/anchorage-population-and-other-fun-anchorage-facts>
- More info: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anchorage,\_Alaska
- The State of Alaska Visitor’s web site: <http://www.travelalaska.com/>
- My Favorite quote: “The great thing about Anchorage is it’s so close to ALASKA!”

Things to do in Anchorage

-The “Log Cabin” Visitor’s Information Center <http://www.anchorage.net/visit-anchorage-information-centers> at 4th Ave. and F St. which can provide free maps and info is a good place to start.

- In Anchorage, we enjoy over 250 miles of trails, 223 parks and 10,900 acres of municipal parkland. <http://anchorageparkfoundation.org/> A listing of the Anchorage Trails & Parks is available here: <https://anchorageparkfoundation.org/directory/>
- Bicycling in Anchorage: Enjoy the numerous paved trails all throughout the city. Bicycle rental is available at 4th between C&D streets: <http://www.alaska-bike-rentals.com/> (among others). A 132 page color document regarding bicycling in Anchorage: here and the City Ordinances: here
- Viewpoint at the Glen Alps Trail Head <http://dnr.alaska.gov/parks/aspunits/chugach/glenalps.htm> for a great view of the Anchorage bowl and the mountain ranges if the visibility is clear enough.

Access is shown on the Anchorage Trails map – at the southeast corner of town. Parking can be limited. Don’t park along the road approaching it – they issue $200 fines. You can take any number of hikes from there (or other starting spots). You can check if the lot is full on the webcam: <https://dnr.alaska.gov/parks/units/chugach/glenalpswebcam.htm> Probably the most popular, but not-for-beginners hike is to Flattop Mountain from there. <http://aktrailhead.com/flattop/flattop.shtml>

- The Alaska Aviation Museum at Lake Hood. <http://alaskaairmuseum.org/>
- The Anchorage Museum <http://www.anchagemuseum.org/>
- The Native Alaskan Heritage Center. <http://www.alaskanative.net/>

- The Anchorage City Trolley Tours <http://www.alaskatrolley.com/> may be of interest to see sights around town. Departs from the Log Cabin.
- Drive around Lake Hood Seaplane Base. http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/File:Lake\_Hood\_Seaplane\_Base\_and\_Gravel\_Strip.jpg Over 300 floatplanes and land planes are based there.
- The Anchorage Weekend Market is back at 225 E Street northeast of the Hilton - full of arts & craft vendors on Saturdays and Sundays. <https://anchoragemarkets.com/anchorage-market/>
- ~June 21st: Summer Solstice - the longest day of the year. Many folks go to Point Woronzoff or Earthquake Park just north of the airport or climb Flattop Mountain, to watch the sunset at 11:41 PM that day. It will be light all 'night' long.
- Near Point Woronzoff you can stand on a spot on the bluff and the jet airplanes taking off or landing on Anchorage International's runway 15 / 33 will pass very close overhead. The wake turbulence from them shakes the trees and sometimes can blow your hat off.
- There is also a Summer Solstice Festival downtown.
- The Sport Fish Hatchery with salmon and trout is interesting to tour: <http://www.adfg.alaska.gov/index.cfm?adfg=fishingSportStockingHatcheryInfo.williamjackhernandez>
- The Alaska Zoo. www.alaskazoo.org hosts numerous wildlife native to Alaska.
- The Potter Marsh Wildlife Viewing area is at the south end of town: <https://www.adfg.alaska.gov/index.cfm%3Fadfg=viewinglocations.pottermarsh>

Restaurants in Anchorage

There are numerous restaurants downtown. A few we like:

- Simon & Seafort's - Excellent food and view <http://simonandseaforts.com/>
- The Glacier Brewhouse <http://www.glacierbrewhouse.com/>, or right next-door:
- Orso <http://www.orsoalaska.com/>
- A popular place for lunch is the Snow City Café – <http://www.snowcitycafe.com/>
- We love “The Fancy Moose” lounge <https://www.millenniumhotels.com/en/anchorage/the-lakefront-anchorage/fancy-moose-lounge/> to drink, eat and watch the floatplanes fly right overhead - located at the former Millennium Hotel - now “The Lakefront Anchorage” <https://www.millenniumhotels.com/en/anchorage/the-lakefront-anchorage/> on Spenard Road by the International airport. It can get crowded, but the setting and view is top-notch.

- Another Lounge / Restaurant with a deck on the southeast corner of Lake Hood is “Piper’s” <http://www.pipersanchorage.com/>. It has 50% off appetizers from 5-7 pm.
- Also on Spenard Road is Gwennie’s Old Alaskan Restaurant. It has a full menu, but is well known for their huge breakfasts. <https://www.gwenniesoldalaskarestaurant.top/>
- A very popular pizza place is The Moose’s Tooth Pizzeria: <http://moosestooth.net/> (Rated 3rd Best in America!)
- A brewery with decks and views toward Denali and Mt. Susitna is The 49th State Brewing Company <https://www.49statebrewing.com> (formerly the Snow Goose). Try their “King Crabby Grilled Cheese” sandwich. Yum!
- Sullivan’s <http://sullivanssteakhouse.com/anchorage> has great steaks
- Club Paris <https://www.clubparisrestaurant.net/> also known for excellent steaks
- Jen’s <http://www.jensrestaurant.com/> quality European dining
- Humpy’s <https://www.humpysalaska.com/> is popular with a fantastic selection of draught beers, but for me, a bit loud.
- Due to the diversity in Anchorage many ethnic restaurants are available, including: Himalayan, Thai, Indian, Lebanese, Vietnamese, Korean, Japanese, Filipino, as well as of course Chinese and Mexican. Several are along Spenard Road.
- The above list is only a tiny sample of the many dining options in town.

North of Anchorage

- The Eagle River Nature Center <http://www.ernc.org/> is ~ 10 miles south east of Eagle River, thus about a :50 drive northeast of ANC. The hiking trails are always open but check the website for days that the building is closed.
- You could take a 1 to 2 mile hike at Thunderbird Falls, <http://dnr.alaska.gov/parks/maps/thunderbirdfallsguide.pdf> near Eklutna, (~ :50 northeast of ANC)
- Visiting Eklutna Lake <http://dnr.alaska.gov/parks/maps/eklutnalaketrailguide.pdf> is very scenic. Also ~ :50 northeast of ANC
- In Palmer, 1 hour north is the Reindeer Farm <https://www.reindeerfarm.com/>

-We have visited the Matanuska Glacier and thoroughly enjoyed being able to drive to it and walk out on it. <http://www.matanuska-glacier.com/> 2 hours from ANC.

- For a bit more $$$ you could take a Rust's Flying Service charter for fishing or bear viewing. www.flyrusts.com . We've done this a few times. One day of fishing $845 ea. Flightseeing from ANC starts at $175 ea. to $595 ea. (plus a 3% tax in 2025.)
- My favorite thing to do is FlightSeeing the glaciers and Denali. Rust's does this, or you could fly out of Talkeetna. I've flown this many, many times in our own airplanes, and on a nice weather day it is the most incredible, scenic flying anywhere in the world. Rust's has a good video, try to watch it in full-screen, HD mode:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QqjdL4J-skQ>

Some images from my web site on flying to Denali:

<http://www.experimentalairplane.com/navajo.html#alaska>

-Recent visitors took our recommendation to fly Talkeetna Air Taxi to see Denali and do a glacier landing (from $398) which they say was unquestionably the best thing they've ever done. We did that several years ago and I highly recommend it for an unforgettable, once-in-a-lifetime experience. <https://www.talkeetnaair.com/>.

-My wife Linda's favorite place is Talkeetna. <http://www.talkeetnachamber.org/> About a 2+15 drive north from ANC. (30 minutes in our plane...) It's a quirky, artsy town (its honorary mayor was a cat.) It has a fancy Talkeetna Alaskan Lodge <http://www.talkeetnalodge.com/> that is one of our favorites - just south of town with a deck high enough to view Denali on nice days.

You can also take the train <https://www.alaskarailroad.com/> Talkeetna from ANC.

- Many take the train, bus or drive to Denali National Park. <http://www.nps.gov/dena/index.htm>. Many superlatives of beauty, wilderness and wildlife could be inserted here... A 4 1/2 hour drive north of ANC.

- Flightseeing is available near Denali National Park by Denali Air <https://denaliair.com/>

South of Anchorage

- I strongly recommend a drive south of town along the Turnagain Arm, a very scenic byway with numerous viewing points. <https://www.alaska.org/guide/seward-highway>

- 40 minutes south along the Turnagain Arm is the Swiss Alps-style ski town of Girdwood and the Alyeska Resort <https://alyeskaresort.com/> where you can ride the scenic tram. The view is tremendous. If you go for dinner, the fine-dining “Seven Glaciers” restaurant at the top is very scenic, but quite expensive.

<https://www.alyeskaresort.com/seven-glaciers/>

- In Girdwood the Double Musky Inn <http://www.doublemuskyinn.com/> is well-regarded for its Cajun Cuisine. <https://alyeskaresort.com/product/seven-glaciers/>

- Also in Girdwood, The Bake Shop <http://www.thebakeshop.com/> has great soups and lunches.

The Alyeska Resort in Girdwood

- The Phillip's 26 Glacier cruise <http://www.phillips cruises.com/> is an excellent, all-day event out of Whittier. Very well worth the $159-199 price. You can drive there, or from downtown take the bus for $95 more or the train for $206 more. We've taken guests on this several times. Try to pick a good weather day, but even if marginal weather, it's still worth it. You can book it at their office on 4th St. or online.
- We enjoy the Alaska Wildlife Conservation Center www.alaskawildlife.org near Portage. (~ 1 hour southeast). You can get right up to a fence for each large animal species in Alaska – including black and brown bears, moose, caribou, etc. A large, nice habitat setting.

- Visit Portage Glacier. At Portage, ~ 1 hour southeast of ANC. The most-visited glacier in Alaska since it's so close to Anchorage. When we first visited Alaska the glacier was right in front of you but now you need to take a boat ride "around the corner" to see it. <http://www.travelalaska.com/destinations/parks-public-lands/portage-glacier>
<http://www.portageglaciercruises.com/>
- Further south is Cooper Landing and the Kenai River for fishing and camping. <http://dnr.alaska.gov/parks/aspunits/kenai/kenaiindex.htm> King Salmon are usually near their peak in late June. Other salmon are available other summer months.

- Also on the Kenai Peninsula is Seward, <http://www.cityofseward.us/> a 2+30 drive. A very scenic drive and scenic town on the water - my favorite town in Alaska. The marina is quite impressive. The Alaska SeaLife Center is a first-class exhibit worth a visit. <http://www.alaskasealife.org/>
- Kenai Fjords Tours has day cruises to view wildlife with a salmon and prime rib meal on Fox Island that we have taken and recommend. <http://www.kenaifjords.com/>
- Near Seward is Exit Glacier <http://www.nps.gov/kefj/planyourvisit/exit-glacier-area.htm> A 1 ½ mile hike will take you to its edge.
- 5 hours south is scenic Homer <http://www.cityofhomer-ak.gov/> — literally “The End of the Road” in North America. You can drive to a very unique spot at the Lands End Inn at the end of “the spit”. <http://www.lands-end-resort.com/>. You can take halibut fishing charters out of Seward or Homer.

Weather

- I strongly suggest bringing a day pack with a rain jacket and warmer jacket wherever you go, even on short hikes because it can get cold, windy and rainy on very short notice.

Summary

Keep in mind that much of what Alaska has to offer is not in the city of Anchorage, but I bet you’ll find plenty to do in and near town.

As you can see from the list, two weeks will “only get you started...” ☺

If you get ‘hooked’ as we did, the following link will become useful:
